

Side Lying Front/Back Kick

- Lie on your side, both legs lengthening away, with your bottom arm straightened above your ear and your head resting on your arm or on a cushion, the other arm resting on the floor
- Inhale to prepare, exhale to stabilise and bring the top leg to hip height,
- Inhale, flex the foot and kick the leg forwards, bringing your toes towards your nose
- Exhale, still stabilising, and kick the leg behind you, pointing the toes
- Repeat x 6

Points to remember:

- * Keep the moving leg at the height of your hip
- * Lengthen through the spine throughout
- * Keep scooping to keep the pelvis stable, don't over-do the movement and stay within your range.
- * Keep the waist long, and avoid arching the back as the leg kicks backwards
- * Warm up with spine curls and hamstring stretches before attempting this exercise

Beginner version:

- * Only move the leg a few inches forwards and a few inches back,
- * concentrate on maintaining pelvic stability

Please warm up before attempting these exercises.
